

You have a great baseline everything looks good. At this point it's just going back through and adding detail +images. I'm a little concerned about the fixed title and if it will be distracting as the user is trying to read, especially for smaller screens. I would love to swing back a little more into bringing in some level of color as well. Keep up the good work!